Brief biography (maximum 800 characters) *

Timber & Battery's playful work considers meaning and meaninglessness through oblique gestures. The collaborative practice of Rohanne Udall (Edinburgh College of Art) and Paul Hughes (University of Edinburgh, University of Roehampton), it takes place across choreographic, performance and visual arts contexts. Trained in fine art and philosophy, our practice is a meeting point between disciplines; a persistent and fidgeting enquiry that continually questions itself and the contexts it finds itself within.

Our work has been recently presented at Chisenhale Dance Space, Rich Mix, Bethnal Green Working Men's Club (all London), Forest Fringe (Edinburgh), Attenborough Arts Centre (Leicester), Summer Lodge (Nottingham), DISKURS (Gießen) and ICW (Blackpool).

SCREENDANCE FILM

Title

Finding the Frame

Brief synopsis (maximum 800 characters)

Within a composition of offcuts, two figures repeatedly set up a camera in order to produce an image. Absent-mindedness, off-screen negotiations and oblique movements are captured in minor glimpses. Exposing the awkwardness and peripheral mundanity of a practical process, Finding the Frame both reveals and obscures the figures presented, and the images they seek to create with their bodies. How do the performers recognize their corporeality within a photographic image? Speaking from both within the frame and behind the camera, the filmmakers trace what is seen and unseen. Conceptual considerations of artistic identity and context frame moments of playful, light and unconstrained movement.
